CORPORATE PARTNERSHIPS

TRUST
INTEGRITY
COMMUNICATION

In 1956, the Association of Law Enforcement Intelligence Units (LEIU) was founded to facilitate the sharing of confidential criminal information between law enforcement agencies. Over the ensuing decades, LEIU has expanded its role by providing professional training for criminal intelligence practitioners and analysts while setting nationally accepted criminal intelligence standards. Today, with 200 member agencies and a voice at the national level, LEIU's mission is to provide leadership and promote professionalism in the criminal intelligence community in order to protect public safety and constitutional rights.

LEIU's criminal intelligence standards have been accepted and recognized by civil libertarians and incorporated in the U.S. Department of Justice's National Criminal Intelligence Sharing Plan (NCISP). These standards create the proper balance between the needs of law enforcement and the constitutional privacy rights of individuals.

As in 1956, when law enforcement agencies from across the country joined together as partners to fight organized crime, partnerships have proven to be the instrument by which progress is made. The Corporate Partnership Program provides an opportunity for businesses to join LEIU in the effort to prevent crime and enhance public safety.
